

Book Festival Friends

Books by the Banks is an annual celebration of books and reading taking place every October in downtown Cincinnati.

It is organized and presented through a partnership of the region's libraries and a dedicated group of volunteers.

Thousands of readers of all ages attend the Festival free of charge. Many others are aware of the Festival and its value to this community as a significant educational and cultural event.

In order to sustain and grow the Festival and especially cover the costs of presenting a large number of regional and national authors, Books by Banks seeks support through the Book Festival Friends.

Please become a Book Festival Friend by contributing as an individual or collectively with members of your Book Club.
